Came up with a cheap visor .

These were at a local auto parts store for a couple bucks. They're made for a 2" clearance lite.

Cut it in half, a little grinding on the bench grinder, drill a hole in the top center to take the signal lens screw and done. There is about 1/4" of the lens showing at the back so a piece of chrome tape can cover it or leave it open so the signal can be seen from the side!
